DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 39-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

A “computer readable program” not claimed as “embodied in and executed by a computer-readable medium” is descriptive material per se and is not statutory because it is not capable of causing functional change in the computer. Such claimed data structures do not define any structural and functional interrelationships with the other claimed aspects of the invention, which permit the data structure’s functionality to be realized. In contrast, a claimed “computer readable medium encoded with a computer program when executed comprising” defines structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory.

Regarding Claims 40-41, 43-44, and 46-47: Claim 40-41, 43-44, and 46-47 are dependent on the rejected base claims and; therefore inherit the deficiency thereof.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-38 are allowed.
